DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

VOLUME I.

SPRINGFIELD, KY., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1905.

NUMBER 46

NOMINATIONS

Declined by Mr. Neikirk and Mr. Filiatreau.

The Time Too Short for a Thorough Canvass of the County.

NO SURPRISE TO THE PEOPLE.

The cards of Mr. Neikirk and Mr. Filiatreau, declining the Republican nomination for County Judge and Sheriff, are printed below and are self-explanatory. The action of Messrs. Neikirk and Filiatreau is not a surprise to the people, as they had several times publicly expressed themselves as being doubtful whether or not they would accept.

Mr. Neikirk's Letter of Withdrawal.

SPRINGFIELD, KY., Oct. 9, 1905. To the Chairman of the Republican County Committee of Washington County, Kentucky.

DEAR SIR—On the 30th of September a convention of the Republicans of this county, duly called for the purpose of making nominations for county offices, nominated me as a candidate for the office of County Judge. I was present in the convention, and when my name was offered, protested against being placed before the convention, feeling that it would be out of my power to make a canvass of the county, owing to the fact that the next term of our Circuit Court convenes before the election, and my legal business would therefore occupy the greater part of my time. The convention refused to listen to my protest, and persisted in nominating me. Naturally feeling complimented by so marked a manifestation of the confidence of the Republicans in my county, and desirous of complying with their wishes, if in my power, I have taken the matter under consideration, and have delayed as long in responding to the call in the hope that I could so arrange my business affairs as to accept the nomination. I find, however, that it is impossible for me to do so, and feel that it is my duty to decline without further delay, and give the party opportunity to select some one else. Permit me to express through your appreciation of the honor conferred upon me, and pledge to the party my earnest and hearty support.

Very respectfully,
W. F. NEIKIRK.

Mr. Filiatreau's Letter of Withdrawal.

SPRINGFIELD, KY., Oct. 9, 1905. To the Chairman of the Republican County Committee of Washington County, Kentucky.

At a convention of the Republicans of Washington county, Ky., held in Springfield on the 30th day of September, 1905, I received the nomination for the office of Sheriff of Washington county, Ky. The nomination was a surprise to me, as I had never in any way solicited it, and had I been present at the convention, would have declined it. I feel very grateful to the Republicans of my county for the high honor conferred upon me in selecting me as their candidate, but feel that my business will not allow me to devote the time necessary to make a canvass of the county, and do justice to myself and the party.

Thanking my friends for their confidence and for the compliment bestowed on me, and pledging the party my hearty support in the future, as in the past, I remain

Very respectfully,
C. R. FILIATREAU.

Fonzy's Home Coming.

Fonzy Brown, a negro, who was serving a sentence in jail here for shooting at and wounding, and who skedaddled from a Springfield rock pile in early spring like the cat, came back, and when Jailer Catlett returned from church last night he found Fonzy on the front door step. Verily, the gray cloud clouds in the heavens make a cozy look for a stove.

Mackville Church Dedicated.

The new Christian church of Mackville was dedicated October 1, 1905. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rev. Buckner, of Harrodsburg, and he touched every one present by his earnest appeal to the members and people to give of their means to an institution that is for the upbuilding of the town and community. The church was $2,500 in debt, and he said that some must be raised before he left the building, and that he would not even until the debt was paid. Then the donations came fast, and the amount was soon raised. Mrs. A. G. Tume headed the list with $250. Mr. T. M. Tume following with $200; Mr. Mat. Wycoff, $100, and others, so that what seemed an impossible task was made easy when the people "gave as the Lord has prospered them," and by 2:30 o'clock p. m. the debt was paid, and the people went home rejoicing, feeling that they could worship God in their own house that had been truly dedicated to the Lord.

We want to thank the Presbyterian brethren for their kindness for the use of their house of worship while our building was under construction. Their generosity should long be remembered by our people.

The church was organized in 1826, and logs were hewn and a building erected on Long Lick, above a never-failing spring, which stood until 1860, when the meeting house was built at Mackville and dedicated in 1861. In 1904 the old building was torn down and a modern house was built.

There are but two members of the old Long Lick congregation now living, Marion Sweeney and Lavina Webster, who is now eighty-nine years old. Both have been earnest workers from the beginning until this day.

A very large number of people—estimated at about 2,500—were present to hear the dedicatory sermon. Dinner was served on the ground, and it was like the "loaves and fishes"—there was plenty left.

May the handsome building ever stand dedicated to the Lord and a joy to those that are faithful to the end. A MEMBER.

Death Sentence.

W. R. Fletcher was given the death sentence at Russellville for criminal assault on Mary Gladden. The jury was composed of men from Simpson county, who, on returning home, were met by women who pinned flowers to their coats and supplied them with lunches. The trial of Guy Lyon for the same offense awaits the completion of the jury.

Want Beckham to Take Part.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 7.—Governor Beckham last night received a telegram from Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, asking him to act with Governors of other States and other prominent Americans on a committee for policyholders of the Mutual, New York Life and Equitable Insurance Companies to require restitution of funds of the policyholders which have been squandered. The Governor left here early today for Bardonia without responding to the message. Private Secretary Leigh wired Mr. Lawson that the Governor would answer immediately upon his return here next week. It is understood here to-night that the Governor's reply will be a favorable one, and that he is thoroughly in sympathy with the plan to require restitution and to better protect policyholders in the future.

For months Governor Beckham has been keeping in close touch, through Insurance Commissioner Prewitt and by other means, with the investigations being made in the east, and his message to the General Assembly in January next will likely deal at some length with the question and with suggestions as to needed changes in the insurance laws of Kentucky.

If Governor Beckham does accept the invitation of Mr. Lawson, he may at the same time extend to the committee, through Mr. Lawson, an invitation to hold its initial meeting in Kentucky, either here at the Capital or in the city of Louisville. The committee will be made up of prominent officials and influential men from all sections of the country, and Kentucky is a convenient and a central point for the meeting.

Insomnia and Indigestion Cured.

"Last year I had a very severe attack of indigestion. I could not sleep at night, and suffered most excruciating pains for three hours after each meal. I was troubled in this way for about three months, when I used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and received immediate relief." says John Dixon, Tullahoma, Ontario, Canada. For sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

The Old Oak Bucket.

[There have been several versions of the origin of "The Old Oak Bucket" but the most widely circulated and popularly believed is as follows: When Woodworth was a journeyman printer in an office on the corner of Chatham and Chambers streets, in New York, near by on Franklin street was a saloon kept by a man named Mallory, where Woodworth and several particular friends used to resort. One afternoon the liquor was unusually excellent, and Woodworth seemed inspired by it. After taking a draught, he sat his glass on the table and, smacking his lips, declared that "No," said Mallory, "you are mistaken; there was one thing which, in both our estimations, surpassed this in the way of drinking." "What was that?" asked Woodworth, dubiously. "The draught of pure spring water that we used to drink from the old oak bucket that hung in the well, after our return from the field on a hot day in summer." A tear-drop glistened in Woodworth's eye. "True, true," he replied, and shortly after quitted the place. He immediately returned to the office, took up a pen, and in half an hour "The Old Oak Bucket" was ready in manuscript to be embalmed in the memories of succeeding generations.]

How dear to this heart are scenes of my childhood, When fond recollection presents them to view! The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled woodlot, And every loved spot which my infancy knew; The wide-spreading pond, and the mill which stood by it, The bridge, and the miller, and the cat that yielded, The cot of my father, the dairy-house high it, And e'en the rude bucket which hung in the well! The old oak bucket, the iron-bound bucket, The moss-covered bucket which hung in the well. That moss-covered vessel I hail as a treasure; For often, at noon, when returned from the field, I found it the source of an exquisite pleasure. The purest and sweetest that nature can yield! How ardent I seized it with hands that were glowing, And quick to the white pebbled bottom it fell; Then soon, with the emblem of truth overflowing, And dripping with coolness, it rose from the well—The old oak bucket, the iron-bound bucket, The moss-covered bucket arose from the well. How sweet from the green, mossy brim to receive it, As poised on the curb it inclined to my lips! Not a full blushing goblet could tempt me to leave it, Though filled with the nectar that Jupiter sips. And now, far removed from that Jupiter sip, The tear of regret will intrusively swell, As fancy reverts to my father's plantation, And sighs for the bucket which hangs in the well—The old oak bucket, the iron-bound bucket, The moss-covered bucket which hangs in the well.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Death of Mrs. McKenna.

Mrs. Martha McKenna, one of Springfield's oldest and most highly respected women, died at her home here Monday afternoon at about 4 o'clock. Mrs. McKenna was eighty years old the 20th of last May. The greater part of her life was spent in Springfield, where she was loved and honored by hundreds of friends.

The deceased was a devout member of the Catholic church, and for many years her life had been consecrated to God. She was kind and generous to the suffering and needy.

Mrs. McKenna was twice married, her first husband's name being Stark. After his death she was married to Arthur McKenna, who died about twenty years ago.

The deceased is survived by one sister, Miss Bettie Cravens, who has made her home with Mrs. McKenna for quite a number of years.

Funeral services were conducted this morning at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father Hennessy, after which burial occurred in St. Dominic's cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Goatley.

Mrs. Rebecca Goatley, an aged and respected woman, of Valley Hill, died at her home at that place yesterday, and, after funeral services at the Presbyterian church today, the body was interred in Cemetery Hill. Mrs. Goatley was an excellent Christian woman, and leaves a large number of relatives and friends to mourn her death.

Death of a Little Child.

Eugene Hendrix Carter, the twenty-two-month-old child of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Carter, died at the home of its parents, in Lexington, Monday morning at 5 o'clock of cholera infantum. The child had been ill about ten days, and its death came as a great shock to parents and friends. The body was brought to the home of its grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Yankey, near town, and was buried yesterday afternoon in the cemetery at Mackville. The parents and grandparents have the sympathy of all in the loss of their little one.

Death of Mrs. Price.

Mrs. Wm. C. Price died last night at 10:30 o'clock of infirmities due to age. The deceased, had she lived until January next, would have been seventy-nine years old. She and her aged husband moved from Bardonia to this place a few months ago. Mrs. Price was the mother of Mr. C. L. Price, of this place, and of Mr. J. B. Price, of the salt river bottom. One of her sons she leaves an aged and devoted husband, to whom the people extend sympathy. Burial will occur at Bardonia to-morrow morning.

Owenship of a Calf.

Harrodsburg Herald: Mercer county's famous calf case has been settled. Two years ago Mr. George Woods and Mrs. Almedia Brown, who live on adjoining farms near Talmage, each owned a red calf. The two animals ran together in the salt river bottom. One day one of the calves disappeared, and the other one went over to Mrs. Brown's place. Mr. Woods contended that it was his calf that had wandered over to his neighbor's, but the lady was just as persistent that it was her property. Finally the matter got into Judge Roach's court, and each claimant brought up about twenty witnesses to prove that it was their calf, but the jury was unable to determine whose calf it was—and hung tight. Last week Mr. Woods and Mrs. Brown talked the matter over and decided to arbitrate, and each signed and agreed to abide by the decision, the loser to pay all cost. So Messrs. W. J. Hanna, Robert Cox and Robert Clements, three of the best and most substantial farmers in the county, were chosen as arbitrators, and after hearing both sides, decided that the calf belonged to Mr. Woods. We are told that the calf is now worth $115, and that the cost will probably foot up in the neighborhood of $150. Arbitration is the best way in the world to settle disputes, and it is to be regretted that in this case it was not adopted at first. The low calf case was in court thirty years, and the cost footed up $14,000, and in Madison county, this State, a calf suit cost $1,200.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood. Apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness, rheumatism, the balm is equally good. For sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

Lewis-Manget.

(FROM SUNDAY'S COURIER-JOURNAL.) Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lewis, of Springfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Avritt Lewis to Mr. Frederick Manget, of this city.

The wedding will be very quietly solemnized at the bride's home in Springfield on Saturday, October 28.

Miss Lewis is almost as well known in Louisville as she is at her own home, as she has made frequent visits to her aunt and cousin, Mrs. Samuel Avritt, and Mrs. Brainerd Lemon, and to Miss Annie Hodgson Long. She is a most charming young girl, and will add another name to the attractive young matrons of Louisville.

Mr. Manget has lived in Louisville about four years, having come here from St. Louis.

Married in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Irvine Shuck and Miss Kate Harrell were married at the home of the bride's parents, in Salt Lake City, October 5. Mr. Shuck is well known in Springfield, having spent last winter here at the home of his aunt, Mrs. C. R. McElroy. The bride is a daughter of one of Salt Lake City's wealthiest and most prominent men.

Dwelling Burned.

The dwelling house of Mr. Lytle Kays, near the college building, together with all of its contents, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. The fire originated from a defective fuse. Mrs. Kays was not home, and in the evening Mr. Kays lighted a fire in the kitchen for the purpose of preparing his supper. When he retired at an early hour that evening there were no evidences of fire, but about 11 o'clock some of his neighbors discovered the building in flames, and hastened to the house to awaken Mr. Kays. There was $800 insurance. Loss, about $1,500.

Mr. Kays requests The Sun to thank his friends and neighbors for the kindnesses shown him.

Citizens' Ticket.

The following city ticket will, in all probability, be elected at the next November election:

Mayor, Hon. John W. Lewis. City Judge, Jas. R. Noe. Robertson, C. T. Logston, J. C. McElroy, C. A. Thompson and Conrad Hertlein.

"The Race of The Swift."

Mr. Edwin Carille Litsey, of Lebanon, has just issued through the Little, Brown & Co., publishers, of New York, "The Race of The Swift." The book is composed of animal stories, some of which have appeared in the leading magazines of the United States. The stories are appropriately illustrated by John Livingston Bull, the celebrated artist.

At Point of Death.

Mr. Thos. Scrogan is at the point of death at his home, near town. He has been ill for about nine weeks of typhoid fever.

Marion Circuit Court.

Falcon: The grand jury is still in session, and Wednesday returned the following thirty-one indictments: Liquor to minor; 7; breach of peace; 5; concealed deadly weapon; 4; petit larceny; 4; malicious cutting; 2; showing without a license; 2; and one each for malicious shooting and wounding, assault and battery, pointing deadly weapon at another, malicious striking and wounding, chicken stealing, writing and publishing a forged paper, and drawing pistol in passenger coach.

A novel question has arisen in court here over the large batch of indictments that were returned some time ago against the Standard Oil Co. The Court of Appeals decided that a fine in one case was a plea at bar against all other cases, and now the question arises between the circuit clerk and the company as to whether the latter shall plead to each individual indictment and thus have it, regularly stricken from the docket and the clerk get his fees, or whether the court shall order them stricken from the docket and thus deprive the clerk of his fees.

FRANK BEAVEN

Dies From Injuries Received Monday Morning.

Meets With Fatal Accident While Engaged At Work At Marks & Green's Planing Mill.

A MAN LIKED BY EVERYONE.

Mr. Frank W. Beaven died at his home in Springfield yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock as a result of injuries received while engaged at work at the planing mill of Marks & Green last Monday morning. Mr. Beaven was operating a saw, and, in some manner a piece of plank, which he was sawing was thrown forcibly against the pit of his stomach. At the time it was not thought that he was seriously injured, he having walked from the mill to his home immediately after the accident. However, soon after his arrival home, his condition became serious and physicians attending realized that he was dangerously hurt. His suffering was intense almost from the very hour he received the fatal lick until the end came.

Mr. Beaven was fifty-four years old, having been born in Washington county April 6, 1851. He has resided in Springfield for a number of years, having moved from near Bechtold to this place. Mr. Beaven was liked by all classes; he was a big hearted man, generous to a pretty degree, always meeting his friends in a manner which made them feel that he was glad to be with them.

His death will not only be mourned by his immediate family, but there are hundreds of people in Springfield and in Washington county, who will be sorely grieved when the news of his untimely demise is given to them.

The deceased leaves a wife and two daughters. The daughters are Mrs. J. C. Mudd, of Springfield, and Mrs. J. W. James, residing between here and Bechtold. To these sorrowing ones The Sun and hundreds of friends extend sincere condolence.

Funeral services will be conducted at St. Dominic's church at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning and the interment will occur at St. Rose.

Successes Ringo.

Sam. T. Spalding, of Marion county, was elected Democratic Executive Committee member from the Fourth congressional district Monday to succeed Ben. D. Ringo, formerly of Ohio county, who has held the place for many years. The resignation of Ben. D. Ringo was tendered because of the fact that he had removed to Owensboro, which is in the Second congressional district.

Good For Judge Bell.

Harrodsburg Democrat: Judge Bell's instructions to the grand jury were brief, but stringently in part he said: "You, gentlemen, are the instruments of the State, and should exert every effort to apprehend the lawbreakers. There are three things that need careful survey—first, the vagrants; second, the sale of whiskey on the Sabbath, and, third, the gaming law. The revision of the vagrant laws by the last Legislature has made it more forcible than ever before, and the vagrants of this community should be subjected to the corporal punishment that the law prescribes. You should also investigate the illicit sale of whiskey on Sunday. These men are licensed to sell whiskey, but not on the Sabbath. About 80 per cent of the crime committed throughout this country can be attributed directly or indirectly to whiskey, and such a business necessarily needs the vigilant eye of the law. The gaming law is not enforced as rigidly as it should be. The officers do not devote enough of their attention to the law against it, treat it as a secondary consideration, and the grand jury should give it a thorough investigation."

Tom L. Johnson has been nominated for a third term as mayor of Cleveland.

It is announced that Joseph W. Fifer will retire from the interstate commerce commission in January.

Geo. B. Taylor.

Death of a Good Citizen.

Kentucky Standard: Mr. Samuel Greer, of near Maud, died Monday of a complication of diseases, aged sixty-nine years. He had been in declining health for some time, but was seriously ill only a few days. Deceased was a prominent farmer of Nelson county, a kind-hearted, good citizen and a devout Christian. He was never married, and is survived by a sister, Mrs. John Milton, of Baton Rouge, La., and one brother, Mr. E. J. Greer, of Bloomfield. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. O'Neil, pastor of the Poplar Flat Methodist church, at the Methodist church in Bloomfield, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The burial took place in the Bloomfield cemetery.

A Daredevil Ride

often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele, of Columbus, O., caused me great pain. Physicians were helpless, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly healed it." Soothe and heal burns like magic. 25 cents at C. J. Hayden's drug store.

Fine Breeds.

Since its introduction in America the Light Brahma has been a popular fowl. Many breeds and varieties have come and gone, but the old Light Brahma remains, the love and pride of a host of fanciers and the mainstay of a large number of market poultrymen, writes Thomas F. Higg in American Poultry Journal.

As an exhibition fowl the Light Brahma occupies a prominent place. This large, massive bird, beautiful in its color markings of pure white and black, is very attractive in the show pen. In New England its popularity is the greatest, both as a fancier's and utility fowl. It has been truly said that there is a time in the life of every fancier when he has a desire to breed the Light Brahma. There is a pleasing personality about the Light Brahma—stately and majestic and easy to rear.

As an egg producer the breed holds an enviable record. This fowl produces a number of its eggs in the cold months, when the product commands the highest market price. Many fail in egg production with these fowls because of a lack of knowledge as to how to properly feed. An overfed

LIGHT BRAHMA COCK.

Brahma hen is an idler and is unproductive. As soft roasters no other breed or variety can equal the Brahma nor are in such demand in the best markets of the country.

It can be stated as a fact that the latter day Cocking of the Light Brahma by many breeders has impaired the laying power of the breed, where so bred. Mr. Felch and Mr. Williams and a number of other friends of the breed have strongly opposed this action and have retained the Brahma in its true form. This Cocking of the breed has, too, affected it as an exhibition bird. The west will have none of the Cocked stock.

Standard weights of Light Brahma: Cock, twelve pounds; cockerel, ten pounds; hen, nine and one-half pounds; pullet, eight pounds.

For Republican Party In Kentucky Does the Louisville Herald.

The following paragraphs, from an editorial in last Friday's Louisville Herald, indicate that the brilliant editor of that strong Republican paper sees nothing in the political skies but black clouds:

Indications are multiplying that the rickety State Republican organization "by proxy" is falling to pieces. The party is everywhere discouraged and demoralized. It has the numbers and it has the leaders required for victory. But the masses refuse to be led by small-minded gangsters, and the men fit for leadership are deliberately excluded by the narrowness of petting-fence bosses from the front seats, the places belonging of right to the really big men of the party. The Republican party of Kentucky needs for victory a thoroughly Republican organization, not a mere combination for the control and distribution of Federal offices among men loyal, first of all, to the self-styled Republican boss, and a Republican as long as it pays to be so, but not a moment longer. The party organization should be in the hands of independent, disinterested Republicans, who do not make office-getting or franchise-grabbing the principal purposes of political life. No other leadership can win.

The present State Republican organization is everywhere discredited. The fall registrations show at nearly every point heavy Democratic gains and large Republican losses. Throwing blame on thugs can not explain the falling off. At Lexington, where the Federal office-holding element leads the party, the falling off is enormous.

At Frankfort the Democrats registered 1,263 against a Republican registration of 660; all others, 69. At Paris the registration shows 764 Democrats and 489 Republicans, with 22 Independents. As Bourbon county, outside of Paris, gives a Democratic majority of about 300, the total Democratic majority in Bourbon this year will be 600 or more.

The outlook for Republicanism in this State at the fall election is far from cheerful. After election the party must take a complete inventory, from sub-cellar to attic, and rid itself forever of the waste and refuse now cumbering its abode.

CARDWELL.

Mr. John Wheeler, of Illinois, is visiting relatives here.

Mr. Walter Lambert and family, of Atlanta, Ill., and Mr. Robert Shilton and family, of Mount Zion, have all moved back to old Kentucky. Well, the "Grand Old Commonwealth" is good enough for me.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Holliday spent Saturday and Sunday at Mr. S. O. Milton's, near Harrodsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perkins, of Jenson, visited E. T. Perkins Thursday night.

Mr. Holace Sommers was visiting in Spencer county last week.

On Thursday, September 28, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Perkins was given a dinner by her children in honor of her sixtieth birthday, at which were gathered, besides her sons and daughters—Messrs. L. E. Perkins, of Battle, and E. T. Perkins, of this place; Messdames M. A. Perkins, of Battle; Ada Tatum, of Harrodsburg, and Ora Gardner, of this place, with ten grandchildren—a large number of other relatives and friends, among whom were two brothers, Messrs. Reuben Foster, of Greenwood, Ind., and W. M. Foster, of this place; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perkins and daughter, of Jenson; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burns, of Battle; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sims and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Litteral, Mr. R. A. Willhamp and family, Mrs. J. R. Ward and daughter, Anna, Rev. E. W. Sommers and family, Misses Nannie Votaw, Bertha Lay and Ada Sims, and Messrs. N. B. Royalty, Ernest Moberly and David Foster—fifty-seven in all. After partaking of the excellent dinner, which was prepared and served at Mrs. Perkins' old home in Cardwell, now occupied by her son, Mr. E. T. Perkins, and other surprise to the good mother followed—the presentation by the children of that emblem of perpetual love and honor, a handsome ring. After short devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Sommers, and a hearty banquet, the sincere wishes of all that Mrs. Perkins might enjoy a long life of happiness and usefulness, and that God's richest blessings might rest upon her and brighten her pathway, the long-to-be-remembered occasion ended most happily.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Votaw leave for Illinois this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lay are on a two-weeks' visit to their son, Romie, at Pierson, Ill.

A large crowd from this place attended court at Harrodsburg on Monday.

Miss Nancy Royalty, of Kirkwood, visited Miss Hester Newby Wednesday night.

Mr. S. H. Gardner is busy looking for a farm.

Corn is selling at $1.50 per barrel at the heap.

Married—At the home of Rev. Sommers, on Tuesday, October 3, Miss Annie Pinkston to Mr. William E. Wood, of Decatur, Ill.—On Wednesday Miss Hannah May Robinson was married to Mr. H. M. Satterly, of the Seville neighborhood.

Care of Moulting Fowls.

More diseases are generally contracted during the moulting period than at any other time, and by the use of good, sound, stimulating food, pure water, plenty of room and good, clean quarters only can we pull through it with safety, writes A. V. Meech in American Poultry Journal.

The heavy strain upon the constitution of fowls in casting their feathers is much greater than one would suppose, and if the best of care is not adopted they become retarded in condition to such an extent that the liability to contract diseases is so alarming that they can scarcely escape it. The worst thing that can be done is to crowd too many in one roosting place at night, in badly ventilated and unclean quarters. Make everything clean first and use disinfectant. The best disinfectant that has ever been tried is crude carbolic acid and coal oil, about one pint of the acid to one gallon of kerosene. Use this cleverly and do not be stingy with it. Thoroughly paint the roosts and the dropping boards, or, better still, the entire inside of the poultry house. Paint the roosts once or twice a week, through the moulting season. Allow no more fowls in one house than there are roosts to accommodate them comfortably, giving each fowl enough space so that it may sit without touching another. Feed good, sound grain, and by no means refuse of anything. Do not confine them to one variety of food, but different varieties—corn, wheat, oats, buckwheat, any good, sound grain and meal, occasionally a little sunflower seed, if procurable, and a meat ration once per week.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day. In the afternoon in plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half the bottle I could get up and go to work. I have taken several bottles and I feel like a regular man. I have been able to do my usual work, and I feel like a new man, 64 years old."

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day. In the afternoon in plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half the bottle I could get up and go to work. I have taken several bottles and I feel like a regular man. I have been able to do my usual work, and I feel like a new man, 64 years old."

Woman and Fashion.

A Charming Neglige.
A charming negligee is here pictured in pink and white figured silk, trimmed with pink satin ribbon. Deep necks are laid in front and back at the shoulders, thus giving extra fullness. A broad sailor collar finishes the neck, which may be high or cut out in V shape. The full sleeves are left open at the lower edge, a bow of the ribbon giving a pretty finish. Several materials are adaptable to the mode, such as French flannel, cashmere, china silk, lawn and dimity. The medium size will require three yards of thirty-six inch material.

Winter Waists.
There are a number of novelties in waists for winter wear. The first is in pique elaborately decorated in eyelet work and heavy embroidery. The waists all button up the back and have sleeves puffed to the elbow and long close fitting cuffs. The other waists for afternoon wear are of silk, peau de chamois preferably. By an entirely new process exquisite flowers are painted by hand on the front panel of the blouse, on collars and cuffs. The material may be washed if necessary without losing one atom of the beauty of coloring.

Fashion Hints.
Green and prune will undoubtedly be the popular colors for autumn wear. Materials will be lighter in weight than the stuffs usually worn in autumn. Light quality ladies' cloth broadcloth and new and heavier velvets will figure conspicuously.

Tailor made costumes, except those strictly for business use, are to be made with a demure. There is no hint of crinoline in any of the new models sent from Paris, and that ever recurring source is laid for another season at least.

Cameos Again in Vogue.
Cameos are coming back into vogue again, and the possession of old treasures in these may get them out and consult the jeweler as for their remounting. Neck chains with pendants are among one of the most favored forms of utilizing these, and belts of cameos strung together with link chains are worn with this and sheer lingerie frocks. Some bracelets, too, are shown, and the old fashioned earrings make up charmingly as buttons for one's favorite tailored blouse.

The New Skirts.
Skirts show a tendency to fit more closely around the hips, and the many bulky gathers of last year have gone with last season's fashions. There is still a great deal of fullness around the bottom of the skirt, but the lines are more artistic and more closely modeled to the figure.

A New French Model.
The smartest of the new imported models are very simply constructed while often appearing very elaborate. Tailor stitching is seen here in a very fetching result. The individual charm of this blouse is gained by the fanciful trimming stripes, which may be omitted if preferred. These reach over the shoulders to the belt, front and back, and find their complement in the small straps of the sleeves. The shoulder straps resemble suspenders and broaden at the shoulder in very becoming lines. These may be finished with a narrow silk belt fold of the material or with several rows of stitching. The shirt waist has two tucks on the shoulder and more in the lower part of the sleeve. The double box plait closing the front is stitched and pressed. Any of the popular washing stuffs may be used to develop this design, while mohair, serge, silk or a lightweight broadcloth would be very chic.

A Good Story.

One of the last times that the late General Fitz-Hugh Lee was in New York he related the following at a private dinner. He regarded it, he said, as the most amusing incident in his varied career. He called it "an Irishman's apology."

"I was waiting at the depot at Charlotte, N. C. one afternoon some years ago for a train to Richmond," he said. "It was behind time, and not caring to go back to the hotel I lighted a cigar and paced up and down the long platform. Among the waiting passengers a diminutive Irishman, with trousers touching the tops of his shoes, a cut-away coat six inches too long and a little old hollycock hat, particularly attracted my attention. He was an unusual character, with the style of whiskers known to the lads in the army as 'singers'."

"When I first saw him he was pacing up and down the platform, with his head bent slightly forward, eying me intently from under his shaggy eyebrows. His hands were clasped behind his back under the tails of his coat, and with every step he took he caused the coat tails to beat a sort of rhythmic time. He did not approach nearer than ten feet, then would wheel quickly and retrace his steps.

"I THOUGHT YEE WOL A YELLER I YOUTER KNOW."

"Finally he emptied some tobacco in to a small bag pipe, stuffed it in with his thumb and, boldly approaching, said:

"'Would yee mind givin' me a light for me pipe?'"

"I knocked the ashes off my cigar and handed it to him. He jammed it down into the bowl of his pipe, and pulling away with a smacking of the lips that could be heard at the far end of the platform, the time glancing sideways into my face, with a quizzical expression, he exclaimed:

"'When I first saw yee—smack, smack, smack, I thought yee wol a feller I yuster know when I was drivin' in a sutler's wagon out be Fort Totten—smack, smack, smack. He was a durn rascal—smack, smack, smack—but I see yee ner not the man.'—New York Times.

Frankfort, Ky.—The court, by Judge Settle, affirmed the Nelson Circuit Court in the suit of the City of Bardonia vs. Monroe Hurst. The city of Bardonia passed an ordinance December 13, 1904, desiring to annex certain territory on which is situated its waterworks, reservoir and property of certain citizens. Bardonia is a city of the fifth class. Under its charter three publications of the ordinance are required. One publication was made in the Nelson Record, which was burned. Hurst was arrested by a police officer and sued out a writ of prohibition against the Police Judge, setting up that he was not arrested within the corporate limits, attacking the validity of the ordinance and the jurisdiction of the Police Judge. The writ was granted. This court, in upholding the lower court, holds the ordinance invalid, the required publications having not been made.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well-known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers, who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it, and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for Coughs, Colds and Croup, it is unsurpassed. For sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

Haven't Decided.

Lebanon Enterprise: The Republican committee of Marion county met in Lebanon Monday. The business in chief before the meeting was the consideration of the question whether or not the committee would make nominations for county officers to be voted for this fall. After considerable discussion the committee resolved to take no action for the present, but the chairman was empowered to call a county mass convention of the Republican party upon the fulfillment of certain conditions. On being interviewed as to whether or not the chance of a mass convention being called was great or small, Chairman Burke very courteously replied that he was not at liberty to give out the information sought, but admitted there was a chance, dependent upon certain things which he declined to make public at this time.

Walter Wellman, Washington correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald, telegraphs his paper that senators and congressmen returning to Washington report that the people everywhere are aroused at the increased cost of living, and that the republican leaders believe their party is in danger unless the tariff is revised before fall times come again.

Debt Paid.

Harrodsburg Herald: It is a splendid tribute to the good people of the Christian church at Mackville that they built and paid for one of the most beautiful and perfectly appointed little church buildings to be found anywhere. Their dedication services last Sunday consisted in raising by most liberal giving the $2,500 deficit in their building fund. Mrs. Aaron Twemley led the subscription list, but space would fail us to mention all who, by noteworthy liberality, made it possible to turn this edifice over to the uses of the Father free from debt. Their pastor is Mr. Walden, and it is under his ministry that this great work has been achieved.

Dr. M. G. Buckner was with them and had charge of the services on dedication day. All who were there will add theirs to the abundant foregoing testimony that the Mackville folks know how to feed. Not only was there of daintily prepared food an abundance, but it was served in a superb manner.

Public Sale

OF RESIDENCE OF

Sidney Green, Dec'd.
Saturday, October 28, 1905.

We will, on the above date, at 2 o'clock, p. m., offer for sale to the highest bidder, the beautiful new 10-room residence, located on the south side of east Main street, in the town of Springfield, Ky. This is one of the most desirable homes in Springfield, being new and up-to-date in every respect. Mr. Green had it built under his own supervision, and using nothing but the very best material that money could buy. This house has bath rooms both on first and second floors, electric lights all over the house, a splendid cellar, large front and back porches, 6 large closets and china cabinet, stable, carriage house, smoke house, coal house, and in fact everything necessary for comfort and convenience. Enclosed with new iron fence, has concrete walk in front and around house, yard nicely set in bluegrass, and rich thrifty shade in place and growing. This is a beautiful location, near graded school and a place that is complete in every respect. At the same time will offer for sale the lot adjoining this property, fronting on Main street 60 feet and running back about 225 feet to the branch. We will also sell a lot of household furniture. Sale will take place at the house. Terms made known day of sale. For further information call on or address

MR. NEIKIRK'S AND MR. FILATREAU'S WITHDRAWAL.

While the Democrats of Washington county have never for one moment believed that they would fail in the election of their nominees, and while they have never felt that the Republicans could put forward a nominee for any office with a probability of his election, we are glad to publish in this issue of The Sun a card from the Hon. W. F. Neikirk declining the Republican nomination for County Judge, and one from Mr. Filatreau declining the nomination for Sheriff. This will leave a clear field for all the Democratic nominees, and we are going to have an election this fall which will be "quiet, peaceable, brotherly," and, so far as Washington county is concerned—with the exception of a contest or so for magistrate—we are going to have a "solitary" game of politics, and it won't be h—; for once it won't be h—.

That Mr. Neikirk and Mr. Filatreau are the strongest members of the Republican party in the county for the respective offices for which they were nominated there are few who dispute, and we believe they would have made a good "losing fight," but we believe that each, after weighing and considering all things, felt that their efforts would be futile, and wisely concluded that it was best for them to decline the honors conferred upon them by their county convention. The nominations came at a late day, and both gentlemen would have been handicapped to a certain degree by a lack of time in which to make a canvass.

Mr. Neikirk is one of the strongest lawyers at the Springfield bar, and, as "a man out of politics," is liked by Democrats as well as by Republicans. This is also true of Mr. Filatreau.

Indeed, we are glad that these two excellent gentlemen have declined the nominations, and that the Democrats are relieved of the necessity of defeating two men "ag'in" whom there is naught but "differences" in political creeds.

And, now that the election in Washington county is going to be a "one-sided" affair, let's build a bonfire at the close of the polls, grasp hands—Democrats and Republicans alike—pitch our hats into the air and say to our fellow-citizens who have been elected, "Go into it, boys; do as well in the next four years as you have done during the past four toward lowering taxes and making Washington county stride upward and onward toward better things, and we will stand ready to do to-day's work over again."

Here's to Mr. Neikirk! May his law practice come wrapped in big fees, and may it work him so hard that he will grow more bald-headed than he is. And here's to Mr. Filatreau! May his corn grow high and the ears grow big, and may the flies stay out of his wheat and the worms out of his tobacco. May they both live long and prosper.

terests and appeals to every class so successfully that many are brought into contact with its teachings who never enter the house of the Lord.ARM DISLOCATED.—Ollie Barber, while engaging in playing a game of football at the college last Friday, fell and dislocated his right arm at the elbow. He was brought to the office of Dr. J. H. Lampton, where the arm was set, and he is now doing nicely.
For a while his suffering was intense,
and it was found necessary to put him under the influence of chloroform before the dislocation could be adjusted.OLD BOOKS.—County Clerk Booker recently found two very interesting old books among some effects at his home, near town. One is Vol. IV. of "The Spectator," published by Johnson Warner in 1810. The other is Vol. II,
"The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling," by Henry Fielding, Esq., published in 1828 by J. J. Woodward, of Philadelphia. These books were the property of William B. Booker, father of County Clerk Booker. The books are yellow with age, but are well preserved.A PRETTY WINDOW.—One of the most attractive and unique show windows ever seen in Springfield may be seen at Hertlein's confectionery. It is a miniature field, or forest, and is the work of Mrs. Hertlein. It is a scene of the "Fall Days." The crimson leaves are scattered over "forest and field," and other evidences of Jack Frost are seen. The bird dog is scent-ing the quail; the rabbit dog is trailing through the "paths," and the "frost" is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock.VERY PAINFUL.—Little Mary Simms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Simms, met with quite a painful and serious accident last Saturday morning. In getting out of bed she stepped, or, rather, jumped on a needle, which was thrust into the foot some distance. The needle was threaded, and, strange to say, the head, and not the point, penetrated the foot. The needle was at once drawn from the foot, but it seems that a mild form of blood poisoning set in, and for a while it was feared that lockjaw would result. However, we are glad to state that the little girl is now better and that all danger is past.

Smoking a Bad Habit.

In Kalamazoo United States Senator Julius Caesar Burrows is regarded with an awe commensurate with the length of his name, titles and Washington experience.

Julius Caesar, so the story goes, drops into a cigar stand in one of the hotels and buys a bunch of cigars with great regularity. He is an inveterate smoker. As he stood by the cigar lighter and proceeded to pay the dealer, light his cigar and stuff the bunch of all day smokers into his pocket at the same time he chanced to see two old men wearing G. A. R. buttons, who were sitting near by. He nodded his recognition at them.

"John," puff, puff, "how are you today?" Puff, puff, "Do you smoke?"

Yes, John smoked.

"Jim," is the other veteran, "do you?" Puff, puff, "Do you smoke?"

Yes, Jim smoked too. The two veterans yet their lips with their tongues expectantly.

Puff, puff!

The senator turned to the clerk with a sad look on his face.

"Smoking is a very bad habit," he observed sagely. Then he grabbed his change and, puffing vigorously, made for the street—Detroit Tribune.

HORSE CLIMBS STAIRS, LANDS IN BEDROOM.

Wholly Uneducated Equine Seeks Refuge in Second-Story Room After Startling Stunts.

New York.—Two large black horses belonging to a condensed milk company, while being led through York street, Brooklyn, became frightened and ran away. One of them dashed into an open doorway of 218 York street, and, terrified by the clamor behind him, knocked over several children, then dashed up a flight of fifteen stairs leading to the second story annihilating the banisters as he went, and terrorizing the inhabitants of the house.

The street is narrow, and many children were playing in it at the time both horses took fright. A number of men tried to stop the runaway by stringing across the street and waving their hands. This effort merely turned the horse at right angles opposite the entrance of 218, which he flush with the sidewalk.

After knocking over several children both horses reached the entrance. Here was a baby carriage with a two-year-old boy in it and with an eight-year-old girl at its side. One of the animals turned and sprang across a low fence into the back yard, but the other and the larger of the two dashed straight for the doorway and bowled both children over, smashing the baby carriage into splinters. He then pounded ahead through the dark hallway to a flight of fifteen narrow steps leading to the second story. He crashed up the stairs, carrying the banisters away.

Reaching the top the horse hooved it across the cracking floor into the bedroom, where he seemed preparing to take a nap on the large double bed. The bed cracked and gave way, while the animal rolled over on the floor. A policeman finally, after many efforts, led the horse down to the street. The children who had been knocked over by the animal in his rush were only slightly injured.

Cheated Death.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand since, as I find they have no equal." C. J. Haydon, druggist, guarantees them at 50 cents.

Guinea Pigs.

Guinea pigs are not as bad as destroy crops as chickens are, and they are better insect destroyers, says A. J. Legg in National Stockman. They will range all over the farm in search of insects and will kill many insects that the chickens will not get. They will eat the gooseberry worm and the potato bug, and chickens will not. There are two well known breeds of guinea pigs—the pearl and the white. In shape and size they are about the same. The pearl guinea is not so well domesticated as the white and is more noisy. It is claimed that hybrids of these two breeds get larger than either full blood.

Leg Weakness.

Leg weakness in fowls is a form of rheumatism and is frequently caused by the fowls being kept in damp, filthy quarters. Accidents where the legs of your fowls are lacking and try to remedy the same. This is also caused by the fowls becoming too fat. Give your fowls a teaspoonful of baking soda to each quart of drinking water and feed a cooling ration, such as wheat bran, middlings and vegetables of various kinds.

CHAPLIN.

The remains of William T. Hooper were brought here last Tuesday for burial.

Miss Dea Rowland, the milliner, is in Louisville this week, purchasing her new fall goods. Her selections are always very tasteful, and this season's goods will be no exception.

Mr. Robert Sutherland went to Smithville Monday on business.

Mrs. Corilla Bland, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Rush. Mrs. Bland is from Hodgenville, and makes a yearly visit to our town. She has a host of friends here who are always glad to see her.

Messrs. Green Hays and Hiner Neale are in the city attending the horse show.

Miss Ruby Tyler, of Smithville, is spending several weeks with Miss Claudie Neale.

Mr. Collie Williams has returned from an extended pleasure trip through the west. He visited his brother, Mr. Burton Williams, at Greeley, Col.

Mr. Stanley Dawson, who is attending school at Bardston, was here Saturday.

Miss Elizabeth Houston has accepted a position with Hungerland & Co.

A jolly party of young people from Mrs. Emma Neale's went serenading on last Friday night. The sleepy occupants of the neighboring houses were "charmed" with the music made by bells, tin pans and chains.

Mr. Bland Rush left Denver, Col., last Saturday for this place. Bland is one of our boys, and we are glad to know that he expects to remain in Kentucky, for a time, at least.

Mrs. Thomas Duncan and two little daughters, of Fairfield, are visiting here.

Mrs. Brown, of Louisville, is here visiting her brother, Dr. Bedford. Rev. Maxwell is holding a meeting in an adjoining county, and his appointment here Sunday was filled by Rev. Godby, of Perryville.

"Old Crosswicks is dead, I hear." "Ah! What complaint?" "Complaint! Haven't heard of any. Most folks are rather pleased."—Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pella, Iowa, had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished. But Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, kept him at his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me and saved my life. Since then I have used it for over ten years and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds, preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50c and $1.00 bottles at C. J. Haydon's drug store. Trial bottle free.

$600 Given Away.

The Weekly Courier-Journal (Henry Watterson's paper) wants to share the profits of this prosperous year with its subscribers. It proposes to give away twenty Christmas presents ranging from $100 to $200, amounting to $2000 in all. There will be four general presents of $100, $50, $30 and $20, and sixteen presents of $30 and $20 to be given in the States of Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Texas, Mississippi, Missouri, Virginia and Alabama. The plan is fair and simple. Write to the Courier-Journal Company, Louisville, Ky., for a copy of the Weekly Courier-Journal, giving full details. It will be sent free.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to try a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and such are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

The Democrats of New York City re-nominated George B. McClellan for Mayor. Herman A. Metz was nominated for Controller, and Patrick F. McGowan for President of the Board of Aldermen.

In the testimony before the New York committee at New York, it developed that Senator Chandler's Dewey took profits to the amount of $100,000 in one of the syndicate transactions.

WASHINGTON COUNTY BUSINESS DIRECTORY

WHEN YOU WANT TO MAKE A PURCHASE, MAKE IT AT HOME: when you want to have a job of work done, have it done at home. If you go away from home to buy, or if you go away from home to have work done, nine times out of ten you hurt yourself worse than you do the house merchant or the house mechanic. At home the merchant knows you and will not misrepresent his goods to you; he has known you for years, he doesn't want to cheat you, he doesn't want you to want your money for nothing. If you have ever bought anything from a mail-order house doubtless you can remember of having received different treatment. Their propositions look nice in print, but don't "come up." Pay your money "out" at home and it may "come back" again, but send it to one of the big mail order houses and it will buy 20-cent cigars for some millionaire in a European home. The Sun begs to call the attention of its subscribers to the following business concerns in Washington County by honest and honorable means. When you want to make a purchase look over this list and select your store. You will be tickled when you compare your purchase with that of the man who brought from the big mail-order house. TRY YOUR HOME MERCHANT FIRST; THAT WILL BE TREATING HIM FAIR.

Memorize the preamble and many sections of "Bill of Rights" and the Constitution.

While the above outline is not complete, it will serve to indicate the amount of work as limited by the grades and pages for this year. If followed closely, it will be the means of putting the schools in good order for a closer grading as is being provided for in the outline and manual to follow next year. The manual is practically ready for the printer, but owing to the unexpected cost of publication, it is thought best to postpone its issue for the present. The work, as limited by months, is the minimum amount that should be done. It is expected that the teacher will supplement it very materially. Review thoroughly at the end of the month, and if time permits, take up the succeeding month's work. The examinations will be based on that part of the outline passed over, usually the most of it by the previous month's study. The envelope containing the examination questions must not be opened until the morning of the examination, and then by a committee of three pupils, appointed for that purpose. The questions for examination must be filed with the written examinations.

ALLEN S. EDELEN.

Auctioneer: Capt. T. D. English, Danville; Sam W. Kidd, Lexington.

TEXAS.

Mr. Nat Campbell and wife, of Springfield, visited the latter's father Sunday.

Miss Laura Bailey is visiting friends in Lexington this week.

Mrs. Maggie Jeffries has returned home after a pleasant visit to friends in Louisville.

Mr. Warren Bailey, of Louisville, who has been visiting his cousins, Messrs. Robert and Walter Jeffries, for the past few months, has returned home.

Miss Nellie Taylor, of Mt. Washington, arrived here Friday night and has opened a millinery store in the store belonging to P. C. W. Peterson. Miss Taylor has a nice line of goods and every one is invited to call.

Messrs. Herman Purdon and E. N. Kimberlin have returned from Louisville.

Mr. James Nelson is very ill at this writing.

Mrs. Doris Nelson entertained quite a number of her friends Monday at dinner.

The school is progressing nicely under the management of Misses Kimberlin and Shaunty.

The residence of J. D. Peterson will soon be completed.

The Hatpin.

"It ought to be possible for an ingenious milliner to devise some less dangerous method of fixing on the hat than the modern hatpin," declares a correspondent. "Not only is the hatpin dangerous, but on a windy day the leverage on the roots of the hair when the large and tapering bodgier is endeavoring to sail away is one of the causes of headache of which most women complain after a buffeting by the elements."

Secretary Taft and party arrived September 27 from their Oriental trip.

READ THIS.

Trenton, Ky., Jan. 24, 1902.—Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis, Mo.: Dear Sir—Please find enclosed $1.00 for one bottle of your Texas Wonder. I used one bottle for kidney and bladder trouble. I want this bottle for my wife. It is a real wonder, and one of the greatest medicines in the world. I was passing pure blood, and I can use my testimonial and photograph if you wish. Yours truly, R. A. WILLIAMS, Real Estate Agent.

A Texas Wonder.

One small bottle of the Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame backs, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women, regulates bladder trouble in children. If not sold by your druggist, it will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two months' treatment and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Dr. E. W. Hall, Sole Manufacturer, P. O. Box 628, St. Louis, Mo. Send for testimonial. Sold by all druggists.

The Merry Go-Round.

That is a queer kind of quirk. Is a fact we never before. For 'tis play makes us able to work. And 'tis work makes us able to play.—Puck.

Why He Was Mad.

Editor—It was a mere typographical error—I cannot understand why you should be so angry. Author—You can't. Why, see here! I wrote, "Her eyes shone with the light of a glorious joy."

Editor's Note.

Author—And it was printed "a glorious jag!"—Cleveland Leader.

The Way of It.

"It's very queer that when people get rich they either have no children or they don't seem to care for them." "That's not strange. When people get rich they can't think about anything but their ancestry; posterity doesn't bother them."—Philadelphia Press.

His Opportunity.

Jones—How do you expect to hear what the party at the other end of the line says unless you hold the receiver to your ear?

Smith—I don't want to hear. It's my wife I'm talking to, and it isn't often I get the chance to do all the talking and none of the listening.—Tit-Bits.

Ethyl's Beau.

Grace—Well, Ethyl has had her lines out a long time. I see she has finally caught something. Gladys—Yes; but I hardly think she caught it with a line. It looks more like the product of a jobster-pot.—Courier-Journal.

Given Away.

"Did the father give the bride away?" "I should say he did! He got rattled, and what do you think he said as he handed her over to the groom?"

"What?" "It is more blessed to give than to receive."—Cleveland Leader.

The Latest Heroine.

Smith—Mrs. Jones is certainly a remarkable woman.

Mrs. Smith—In what way? Smith—Why, she admits that she doesn't know as much about running her husband's business as he does.—Chicago News.
